Spoon

Wouldn't it be nice if there were a magic formula or simple trick that allowed you never to worry about money or managing your finances again?

Your mission should you choose to accept it, is to make this magic happen. Innovate to build a cloud-based hack in the personal finance management space.

Track Details

- The main intention of this track is to build personal finance management applications in the cloud.
- The application must include a personal finance management feature.
- Suggested features of the hack could be spends tracking, Bill OCR, Bill Split, integration of payment gateway like stripe, Razorpay, etc, payment on feature phones using sound
- Another way of approaching this problem statement would be to think of innovative ways to redefine the way we pay merchants by incorporating ideas that haven't been implemented yet.
- The participants should have a hack that is hosted on the cloud using Firebase, AWS, Google Cloud, or any cloud provider of your choice.
- The project will be judged on the technical implementation and innovativeness.
- This track is open to only individual participants. (Team of 1)
